DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of Group I and Species B in Paper No. 7 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that claims 40-42 were erroneously listed with Group II method claims. This is found persuasive and claims 40-42 will be examined.

In Paper No. 7, Applicant requested that election include claims 1-5, 11, 18-26, 33-34, and 40-42. However, claims 11, 18-26 and 34 are drawn to Species A, an apparatus to prepare a biocompatible matrix that circulates coolant on at least two surfaces. Furthermore, unlike the elected Species B, Species A has three frames: a top frame, a bottom frame, and a center frame. Accordingly, claims 11, 18-26 and 34 have also been withdrawn from consideration.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Double Patenting

2. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

3. Claims 1-5, 40-42 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1 of U.S. Patent No. 5,711,172. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other. The Boyce patent claims ('172) discloses an apparatus having a multiple frames, a resilient gasket and a freezing chamber to form a dermal membrane. Likewise, the '849 Boyce application claims an apparatus having multiple frames, a gasket spacer, and a chamber to prepare a biocompatible matrix.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-5, 40-42 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Boyce (U.S. Patent No. 5,976,878).

Boyce discloses an apparatus for preparing composite skin replacement having a chamber (#29) to contain matrix-forming fluid (see at least column 8, lines 40-48). The chamber of Boyce is defined by at least a top planar surface (#22) and a bottom planar surface (#13) of a heat conductive material such as aluminum or steel (see at least column 7, lines 37-60).

Furthermore, the Boyce device comprises at least one gasket (#20) having a uniform thickness positioned between the top and bottom surface to define a perimeter of the chamber and capable of containing the matrix-forming fluid within the perimeter (see at least figure 8 and columns 7 and 8). Boyce further discloses a plurality of fasteners (#16) to fasten the apparatus and an open container to contain a coolant fluid (see top frame in figure 8 and column 8, lines 49-68). The chamber of the Boyce device is a bladder (#29).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

8. Claim 33 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Boyce in view of Kushner et al (U.S. Patent No. 4,954,236).

As previously, discussed in paragraph 5 above, Boyce discloses all the limitations as set forth. Boyce discloses a chamber with six surfaces, but fails to disclose a surface that is separately attachable to the box member.

Kushner discloses an apparatus for casting having five surfaces (#33, 43, 40, 44 and bottom of #10) and a separate sixth surface (#32) that attachable to the open chamber (#10). The removable enclosure permits contact with the underlying mold (see at least column 3, lines 20-28).

In view of Kushner, it would have been obvious to have provided a sixth surface that is removable to the mold in order to permit an opening to contact the underlying mold for purposes such as feeding material into the mold.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The additional references cited disclose various features, which are similar to those disclosed by Applicant.
